CORE CAMHS- Clear Project	HYAG (Humber Youth Action Group)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The ICB tasked the Trust to participate in a pilot of this 26-week programme. • The children’s engagement team facilitated the involvement of young people who had experience of navigating Core CAMHS Services to share their views and experience. At first CORE CAMHS were told that no direct participation sessions could be completed due to data protection. We deliberated back and forth with the project team reiterating the Trust values when it comes to listening directly to the voice of our service users. Once robust consent process was put into place the session went ahead on 19/09/21. • 15 young people participated and were later praised by Juliet McGilligan, Regional Programmes, Workforce, Training and Education Directorate, North East and Yorkshire Region, NHS England for their valuable contribution. 	11 recommendations were shared with CORE CAMHS as an outcome of the project please find outcomes on the attached document. We now have an expert by experience in post to support the CLEAR project team to successfully embed these recommendations.  you said this we recommend this.docx

Humber Youth Social Media	HYAG	The HYAG shared they wanted to take a youth-led approach to our Humber Youth Instagram. They wanted to take a greater ownership over producing the content we share.	From September 2024 the HYAG will have "takeover weeks" for the Instagram where the group will create content, that aims to promote youth focussed topics as well as highlight the achievements in the group, and other opportunities young people can get involved in.

Young Person inclusive resources to promote healthy relationships	HYAG	Young people said they wanted more inclusive resources to support young people to recognise the signs of unhealthy and abusive relationships and understand the resources available to them. The Humber Youth Action Group co-produced with our Trust's Safeguarding Team a set of posters that was shared within the community. In addition, a dedicated online webpage was created to share information on local support groups and resources.	Poster and resources have been shared with schools, partnering organisations and youth hubs.
Co-producing an Intensive Support Pathway – ISPHN 0-19 Health Visiting Service	Focus groups with teen mothers who have received support from the Family Nurse Partnership	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The intensive support pathway (ISP) was part of the specification for the newly commissioned East Riding 0-19 (25) ISPHN service to provide young and vulnerable new mothers with a higher level of intervention than the Healthy Child Programme Specialist safeguarding level. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The pathway is now in place within the service to parent in need of enhanced support by their Health Visitor.
